

Contents

Introduction

Part I Knowing Where You're Going and Defining Success

Chapter 1 – You've Got to Know Where You Are to Know Where You're Going

Herb Greenberg shares his own success journey, from how he dealt with losing his sight to what led him to explore how others succeed on their own terms.

Chapter 2 – First You Have to Define Success

Several individuals, including Fariborz Ghadar, who had to leave Iran during the revolution, and Rebecca Stephens, who climbed Mount Everest, share their personal definitions of success.

Chapter 3 – Tapping Into Your Defining Qualities

Part II Those Who Have Succeeded on Their Own Terms

Chapter 4 – Profiles

1. Perseverance: Samuel Pizar on how he survived the Holocaust and reclaimed his life
2. Goal-Oriented: Rebecca Stephens on how climbing Mount Everest became her all-consuming purpose
3. Self-Awareness: Ben Vereen on how he continues to redefine himself and rediscover what success means to him
4. Resilience: Muggsy Bogues on how he defied countless critics and became the shortest NBA player of all time
5. Willingness to Take a Risk: Senator Barbara Boxer on the importance of fighting for what you believe in, even when you know you're going to lose
6. Thriving on Pressure: Roger Staubach, who led the Dallas Cowboys to two Super Bowl victories, on why the best comes through in the final two minutes of the game
7. Optimism: Janet Lasley on how she stays positive, even when it appears all hope is gone
8. Empathy: Claude Grunitzky on transcending boundaries and becoming a global citizen
9. Competitiveness: Geoffrey Bodine, winner of the Daytona 500, on coming back after a near-fatal crash because he didn't want to be replaced.
10. Patience: Daisy Myers on standing up to the Ku Klux Klan when they threatened her family

11. Persuasiveness: David Oreck, inventor of the famous lightweight vacuum cleaner, on bringing people around to your point of view
12. Confidence: Jeffrey Lurie, owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, on the attitude of a winner
13. Passion: João Carlos Martins on how, after losing the use of one of his hands, he still went on to perform a landmark Bach recital at Carnegie Hall
14. Integrity: Connie Jackson on finally hearing her own voice
15. Trust: Gordon Gund, the founder of Gund Investment Corporation, on losing his sight and finding trust
16. Having Fun: Angelo Chianese, owner of Zip-A-Dee-Doo-Dah Singing Telegram Company, on how freeing it can be to realize that everything is just temporary
17. Being Open: Libby Sartain, senior vice president of human resources at Yahoo!, on knowing when it is time to leave and go after a new opportunity
18. Creativity: Michael Graves, the renowned architect and designer, on how he stays inspired
19. Courage: Congressman John Lewis, the legendary civil rights advocate, on pushing through fear and acting on your beliefs

PART III    Thirty Lessons in Success: What They Discovered about Themselves along the Way

Chapter 5 – Knowing Yourself

1. Focus on What You Have Rather Than What You Don't: Paul Schulte, an Olympic wheelchair basketball player
2. Always Play Like You're Trying Out for the Team: Emilio Butragueño, Spain's legendary football player
3. Be Who You Are Right Now: José Luiz Tejon Megido, a burn victim from Brazil, who went on to incredible accomplishments
4. Pursue Something That Is Completely and Totally Interesting to You: Angelo Sotira, who, while still in high school, sold his business to Michael Ovitz
5. Embrace Your Roots: Congressman Charles Rangel, on coming from and representing Harlem
6. Customize Yourself: Sonny Barger, one of the most legendary members of the Hell's Angels
7. Respond From the Heart When Disaster Strikes: David Oreck, on helping his employees through Hurricane Katrina

8. Come to Terms with Your Past So That You Can Move beyond It: Laura Kohler, part of the fourth generation leading a global company
9. Be True to Your Convictions: Congressman Rush Holt, on the line between compromising and standing up for your beliefs
10. Look in the Mirror and Be Able to Say, “I Did the Right Thing”: Francis Samuel, on reinventing his company because of the European shift in currency
11. Know What You Stand For: Senator Debbie Stabenow, on being open with people you disagree with 12. Sometimes You Just Have to Quit and Start Over: Howard Rubenstein, the premier public relations advisor
13. Don’t Let Others Define You: Congressman Bill Shuster, on stepping out of his father’s shadow
14. Reinvent Yourself: Susan Magrino, who literally became allergic to her job
15. Accept Your Own Challenges: New York State Senate President David Patterson, on his fear of underachieving
16. When You Get Sick of What You’re Doing, Stop Doing It: Jane Sanders, who found her calling after her job made her ill

Chapter 6 – Knowing the World around You

17. Challenge the Status Quo: Congresswoman Jan Schakowsky, on how power is to share, transfer and understand
18. Admit When You’ve Made a Mistake, Then Turn the Situation Around: Sara Mathew, Chief Financial Officer of Dun and Bradstreet
19. Realize When You’re Lucky and Grab Your Opportunity: Danny Goldberg, Chief Executive Officer of Air America
20. Find Something That No One Else Is Doing and Make It Yours: Fergal Murray, the Guinness Brewmaster
21. Develop the Strength of Your Own Voice: Susan Rice, Chief Executive of Lloyds TSB Scotland
22. Be Open to the Next New Idea: Nicole Miller, the renowned fashion designer
23. Don’t Leave Your Past Behind: Annette Verschuren, Division President of Home Depot’s Canadian operations
24. Know How to Retire: Pierre Ralet, the Belgian advertising executive who is busier than ever now that he is retired

25. Assert Yourself: Governor Jon Corzine, on standing up for your point of view
26. Surround Yourself with the Right People: H. Edward Hanaway, Chairman & Chief Executive Officer of CIGNA Corporation
27. Set Your Watch for Now: Elizabeth Elting, who started her company in her college dorm room
28. Don't Take It Personally: Mara Swan, Senior Vice President of Manpower
29. Don't Be Afraid to Be First: Melinda Large, Regional People Director-Americas for Wal-Mart
30. Defy the Odds: Eric Braverman, M.D., Director of The Place for Achieving Total Health

Part IV Defining Moments, Lessons, Qualities and What They All Mean

Chapter 7 – Recognizing Your Defining Moment (Before It's in the Rearview Mirror)

With insights and reflections from Paul Schulte on competing in the Olympics; Rocky Bleier, who recovered from being shot in Vietnam and went on to help win a Super Bowl game; Gaston Caperton on needing to leave his home state in order to keep growing; Marc Koska on inventing a device to save people from getting AIDS, and Dave Power on starting his own business because he could not bear to have his work misrepresented.

Chapter 8 – Having a Lesson for Your Children

Chapter 9 – So, What Does It All Mean?

Chapter 10 – How to Discover Your Own Defining Qualities

Bibliography